PLACERVILLE, EL DORADO COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1937

NUMBER 35

Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press Associations, who recently returned from Europe, has written an article for The American Press, which we found of some interest, and so we pass it along as "shop talk" thinking you might enjoy it, too.

"Will there be a European war this year? Did Mrs. Simpson ever have a good chance of becoming a queen? How are news stories covered in Europe, compared to the United States? Why didn't Edward force the Baldwin government to resign, rather than abdicate?"

"These are some of the questions showered upon me since I returned from Europe. They must be typical of those in the minds of newspaper men and newspaper readers throughout the country. For the purposes of this article, I will answer some of these interrogations in questionnaire form. Here goes:

"Q.—Will there be a European war this year?"

"A.—Anyone attempting to answer that "yes" or "no" would be a fit subject for a lunacy commission. However, it is safe to say that in the opinion of some people very high in the diplomatic corps abroad, the war menace is not so acute as it was a year ago. No country is sure enough of winning to risk it. Britain will use her influence, short of going to war, to prevent a general conflict on the continent. France, despite her fear of German influence behind her back in Spain, would hardly go to war without an ally. Russia definitely does not want to become involved in war. Germany will not be completely ready for several years. Meanwhile, the latest war devices are being tried out in Spain where the big fighting powers of Europe are engaged in what has been called an unofficial miniature "world war" which is something like a laboratory experiment, with men and materials being tested in actual combat.

"Q.—Why didn't France capture Madrid a month ago when everybody expected him to?"

"A.—Let Webb Miller, European news manager of the United Press, who spent several weeks last fall with General Franco's army, answer that. In Miller's opinion, the drive upon Toledo to relieve the Alcazar so weakened General Franco's army that it was found impossible to maintain the momentum. Furthermore, it is well known that it is much harder to advance in built-up areas than in open country. The flat roofs of Madrid afford excellent machine-gun posts. The government's resistance was strengthened by arrival of the International Brigade, which is principally what saved Madrid. Miller believes it would be impossible for Franco to take the city at all without the heavy German and Italian aid which he is now receiving.

"Q.—Did Mrs. Simpson ever have a good chance of becoming queen?"

"A.—No, because the king's government objected. The king had to bow to his government's wishes. I found on my return to this country a misapprehension in many quarters that the king could do as he pleased, regardless of advice from his ministers. That is incorrect. The king of Great Britain is so surrounded by constitutional restraints that his every public act comes under the scrutiny of his cabinet. The king functions through his ministers and one of them takes responsibility for his every official act of any importance.

"Q.—Why didn't the king make an issue of his desire to marry Mrs. Simpson by refusing to take the cabinet's advice, and force the Baldwin government to resign?"

"A.—The king must have realized that it would be impossible for him to select anyone to form a new government who could secure the support of parliament, because parliament was almost unanimously opposed to Edward's marriage with Mrs. Simpson. If Baldwin had resigned the country might have floundered without a government for a few days, then the king would have had to ask Baldwin to form another government and as one of the conditions of so doing, Baldwin could have insisted the king promise not to marry Mrs. Simpson.

"Q.—Will the change from Edward to George involve any alteration in the British government's foreign policy?"

"A.—No. I presume this question is prompted by the belief that Edward was interested in fostering amicable

Mr. Avansino passed away on Tuesday at Glendale and the body is being brought to Placerville for burial. At this writing the definite hour of the services is not fixed.

A native of the Pleasant Valley district, Mr. Avansino attended the schools of the county and spent his early life here. About 30 years ago he moved to Los Angeles and became employed in the freight office of the Southern Pacific Company, continuing in that work until his recent illness.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Julia Avansino of Glendale; his wife, Mrs. Dol Ferretto Avansino; two sons, Claude and Virgil of Glendale; a daughter, Mrs. Venus Hengerer, and one grand-daughter, Gloria of Glendale, in addition to a brother, Virgil Avansino of Pleasant Valley.

Mrs. Archie Madden Rites At Sacramento

The funeral services for Mrs. Archie Madden, who died on Friday of last week at Marysville, were held on Monday at East Lawn Mausoleum in Sacramento and were followed by cremation.

Mrs. Madden passed on following a stroke of paralysis.

A native of Placerville, Mrs. Madden (nee Mary Clifton) had lived with her husband at Marysville for 19 years. Mr. Madden operating a shoe store at that city.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Minnie Clifton of Oleta, a brother, Walter Clifton of this city and three sisters, Mrs. Richard Kemp of Fallon, Nevada; Mrs. Lloyd Meyers of Diamond Springs, and Mrs. William Stroup of this city.

Mrs. Mabel Meyers, Lorna Watson and Mrs. Elizabeth Christian were among those who went from Placerville to attend the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd A. Raffetto spent Tuesday and Wednesday at San Francisco.

The dinner will be prepared by the ladies of the church and will be served by a special committee of fathers and sons.

Dr. Walter F. Dexter, newly appointed state superintendent of public instruction and former president of Whittier College, will be the principal speaker of the evening and the Boy Scout Court of Honor will be presided over by Superior Judge George H. Thompson, as judge advocate.

Dr. Lester B. Rantz, district Boy Scout chairman, will be the toastmaster of the evening and there will be several special entertainment numbers in addition to community singing.

Thus the Boy Scout anniversary week approaches its climax. The observance opened Sunday when Rev. Harold Morehouse conducted a special service at the Federated Church for Boy Scouts.

Monday night Scouts of the county gathered at the Federated Church for a Boy Scout radio program which included the showing of motion pictures under American Legion auspices in the interest of traffic safety.

Wednesday night, patrons of the Empire Theater saw the members of Troop 57, with Jack Parsons as Scoutmaster, make fire by friction on the stage of the theater in a little more than one minute.

Wednesday night, also, Scoutmaster Frank Dayton of Troop 67, presented the Cub Pack charter to the Placerville 20-30 Club, sponsors of the junior Scout troop. The Cubs were guests of the 20-30 Club for the meeting and had a "swell" time.

Following the Friday night's doings, Troop 67 will appear Saturday night at the Empire Theater to give a Scout demonstration on the stage.

Merchants of the community have co-operated in the spirit of Boy Scout Anniversary Week by lending their windows for Boy Scout displays and this week there have been special exhibits in the windows of the Cash Mercantile Store, Wudell's store, Kelly's store, Combellack's store, Baer's store and the windows of this paper's office.

Suit was filed Thursday in Superior Court by Louise Daly and others against C. C. Spaulding as administrator of the estate of Frank Kloefer, and other defendants, seeking to foreclose on certain real estate mortgaged to secure a promissory note in the amount of $1,800, dated October 7, 1931, upon which it is alleged the entire principal and interest is owing.

Pay Increase Announced As Strike Halts

General Motors, Lewis Settle Breach In Auto Ranks

NEW YORK (UP)—The General Motors Corporation today announced a pay rise of five cents an hour in all plants of the company.

The increase will go into effect February 15 in all plants now in operation. In plants not now in operation, the rise will go in effect when they reopen. The company said the increase would add $25,000,000 yearly to its employees' wages.

General Motors Corporation common stock opened 10,000 shares at $70 a share, up 2 1/2 points on the stock exchange. The initial block which represented a total amount of $700,000 appeared on the tape 17 minutes after the opening gong sounded. The price of $70 was a new 1937 high for the stock.

GAINS IN LONDON

LONDON (UP)—News of settlement of the strike in General Motors plants sent international issues soaring on the stock exchange today. General Motors were $4 above yesterday's close. U. S. Steel touched 110 1/2, a rise of four points. Rubber shares were from three pence to six pence higher.

PACT SIGNED

DETROIT (UP)—Seven men scratched their names across a three-page document today and formally ended the General Motors strike on its 44th day.

The representatives of General Motors Corporation, the United Automobile Workers of America and the two conciliators signed at 11:45 a. m., amid the clatter of cameras, the agreement reached in the early hours of the day.

John L. Lewis, union chief at whose bedside the final verbal concessions were made, was too ill with influenza to attend the ceremony which capped his 10 days of negotiation with General Motors executives.

The pact will be taken to Lewis' sick bed at Hotel Statler where the climatic conferences were held late last night and early today. He will sign there, propped up among pillows.

Heavy rains were forecast tonight and tomorrow for the U. S. weather bureau in central and northern sections of the state. The storm was expected to continue through the week-end.

Tuberculosis Tests Planned

Public Meeting To Be Held Feb. 18 At High School

Preparations for testing high school pupils and seventh and eighth grade pupils of the county schools as a part of the campaign against tuberculosis in the county will be explained at a public mass meeting called to be held at the high school auditorium on Thursday night, February 18.

The attendance of all parents of school children is desired in order that they may be fully informed concerning all phases of the proposed test.

The meeting is called under the auspices of the El Dorado County Tuberculosis Association which annually conducts the sale of Christmas Seals in this county. Proceeds of the recent sale were in excess of $900 and this money will be used to help defray the costs of the proposed tests which, it is hoped, may be the means of revealing any tuberculosis in school children of the county, and thus point the way to early treatment and probable full arrest of the disease.

In addition to motion pictures concerning the test, Miss Beatrice Woodward of the state health department, will explain the test fully so that all parents of school children may know the nature of the action sought to be undertaken. The high school band will assist in the program for the evening for which Dr. A. A. McKinnon, county health officer, is chairman.

It is hoped to begin the tests during the week of March 15.

Rainfall Normal, Observer Reports

Rainfall to the present date, amounting to 24.31 inches up to the current shower, is "normal or so near normal that it doesn't make any difference."

This is according to Adolph Martin, local co-operative weather observer.

Although the seasonal total was short of normal by several inches on February 1, the total given above is three inches more than the normal to February 1 and J. Pluvius appears at last to have hit his schedule.

The normal to March 1 is 28.12 inches, which makes the weather man anticipate continuing storms through the month.

Jack E. Howe was taken into custody Wednesday by county officers on charges of failure to provide for a minor child.

relations between Great Britain and Germany. As far as I can learn, the abdication of Edward will result in no change whatever in the policies of the British government. If the king attempted to inject himself into the management of British government affairs he would run afoul of parliament.

"Q.—How are news stories covered in Europe compared to the United States?"

"A.—In the first place, physical facilities for news coverage in Europe are generally greatly inferior to those in the United States. American newspaper men, accustomed to running a direct leased wire into any courtroom or having their private wires cut into legislative galleries, would be astonished at the difficulties encountered in any such thing were attempted in London or other capitals overseas.

"In covering the Ipswich divorce of Mrs. Simpson, the United Press had a telephone in a shop across the street from the courthouse with an open wire to New York headquarters. This resulted in very fast transmission, but in the United States we would have had a wire right in the court room.

"The attitude of officials generally toward the press in most European news centers, judged by American standards, is one of non-co-operation.

"Baldwin's announcement of the king's abdication was covered by telephone from the Houses of Parliament to London headquarters, thence by two trans-Atlantic telephones, by wireless and by cable to United Press clients in North and South America and throughout the world. This was probably the biggest job of fast volume new transmission in history.

"In the King-Mrs. Simpson story, American correspondents had one of the toughest possible jobs of coverage. In the events leading up to the 'crisis' there were no official statements, news had to be secured from private sources. British string-men became more and more reluctant to touch the story at all. Americans worked alone in a foreign atmosphere on a story being hushed all around them. Yet they achieved high standards of reporting throughout.

"VICTIM" IN IOWA MURDER
DENIES DEATH

DES MOINES, Ia. (UP)—Authorities started from scratch again today in attempts to identify the victim of the "strawstack" murder.

Unexpected appearance of May Claycombe, former Omaha waitress, last night blasted the theory of W. W. Akers, Des Moines chief of the Bureau of Investigation, that she was the person whose charred remains were found in the embers of a burned strawstack in July, 1925, near Carlisle, Iowa.

Mrs. Claycombe was married to "Curley Claycombe," Omaha bellhop, at the time of the fire. She has since re-married and is living in Iowa. The former Mrs. Claycombe said she had "kept company" in 1924 with Clarence Gift, Salinas, California, lettuce worker who is being held at Indianapolis, Iowa, in connection with the renewed investigation. Gift has insisted he was in Kansas City at the time. Mrs. Claycombe told Akers she and Gift parted company several months before the strawstack fire.

Only clues to the victim were a tuft of hair, some imitation pearls, and a brooch. Supposed identifications have been disproved scores of times in the long inquiry.

LEGISLATION

TOPEKA, Kan. (UP)—Members of the Kansas legislature have been spending sleepless nights deciding whether Kansas shall remain traditionally "bone dry" or be mildly wet. ## 1937 SWIM SUITS FEATURE CURVES, "PRINCESS LINES"

NEW YORK (UP)—The girls at the beaches won't display more charm this summer than last, the United Press found out today, but they'll display it a darned sight more effectively.

There probably won't be as much epidermis visible, but there'll be more curves and lines.

Miss Shirley Kellar, a stately blonde, gave a preview of an assortment of next year's swim (not bathing) suits, with a Maillot model with "Princess Lines." The princess lines run parallel up the front of the suit on each side and fork out just at the proper place. They'd make a washer-woman look slim, and Miss Kellar is decidedly no washer-woman.

Miss Kellar was asked if—er—er—she sold many two-piece suits—you know, what the boys in the trade call a "bra" and shorts.

"Two-piece suits are kind of going out," she said. "They over did them. Besides, not every girl can wear a two-piece—most of 'em bulge where the gap is."

L. Andrew Castle, sales manager for a big swim suit firm, said they were selling nine Maillot models to every six of other types.

The function of the new swim (don't say "bathing") suit, Castle explained, is to turn "girls into goddesses."

This is done in several ways, including a gadget called the "builder upper."

The "builder upper" is an arrangement of the shoulder straps, which are adjustable, by means of which a girl can tighten up where she deems it advisable.

Miss Mary Haggard, designer and display manager of another company said all manufacturers were selling more swim suits than at any time since 1929 and that the rush of buying for retail stores would reach its peak next week.

She disagreed with Miss Kellar about bra-and-shorts suits.

There are four children, Miss Mabel Nelson, head of the Home Economics Department of Iowa State College; Owen Nelson, with the Pacific Gas & Electric Company at Melones, California; Earl Nelson, attorney, of Riverside; and Mrs. Bessie Kyberg, who lives with her family at Fresno. ## "Health" Exiles May Not Return To Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UP)—Nearly 10,000 persons who have participated in rebellions since 1922 will be affected by the amnesty decree of President Lázaro Cardenas, it was said today.

Among them are General Jose Gonzalo Escobar, leader is reported living in Canada and Gonzales on San Antonio and Laredo, Texas.

The amnesty also makes possible the return of prominent Catholic prelates, including Monsigneur Ruiz Flores, the Papal legate.

Former President Plutarco Elias Calles of Los Angeles, Luis Morones, labor leader, Luis Leon and Melchor Ortega, all of whom were deported "for reasons of public health" may not return, however, as the amnesty decree specifies forgiveness for only crimes of rebellion, sedition and mutiny.

There are 3,840 "public health" cases pending.

British Labor's Attitude On King

LONDON (UP)—The Daily Herald, organ of the labor party, summed up in an editorial today the labor view of British royalty—as a group of individuals doing a job for the nation and being paid accordingly.

The editorial was in connection with the party's decision to oppose a direct public grant to the Duke of Windsor.

Events of the last few weeks, the Daily Herald said, has done more to change the national attitude toward royalty than would have seemed possible in years.

As the Herald saw it, the popular view now was that royalty should be rationalized and simplified, "and that the king should not be treated as if he were possessed of Supernatural goodness and greatness, but as a man doing a public job."

Hot Cross Buns Herald Annual Lenten Season in Local Bakeries

In 1937 Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent, falls on February 10 and Easter Sunday on March 28.

In A. D. 325 the Council of the Christian Churches at Nicea adopted the present rule for determining the date of Easter, which is that Easter shall be on the first Sunday following the Paschal Full Moon which happens upon or next after the twenty-first of March. The principal reason for placing Easter Sunday on this date was that the pilgrims needed moonlight to travel on their way to the great yearly Easter festivities. The date of Easter may vary at present between March 22 and April 25, over a period of 35 days.

This year Easter falls on March 28, unusually early. Last year it was April 12. In 1932 it was March 27, a day earlier than this year. The earliest in so-called "recent" times was in 1818, when it fell on March 22.

Lent begins on Ash Wednesday—February 10 this year—which comes 40 days previous to Easter Sunday, not counting Sundays. Just as Ash Wednesday annually heralds the beginning of another Lenten season, so also it marks the return of that universal favorite, hot cross buns. For several weeks local bakers have been making preparations for the daily production of these tasty, light, nutritious oven delicacies all through the Lenten period. The origin of the hot cross bun has been traced back into history thousands of years, always connected with some religious custom. Centuries before the Christian era, the ancient Egyptians offered "buns" or buns bearing the mark of two horns, to their favorite moon goddess. Later on, the Greeks offered buns to the gods, changing the mark of the horns to a cross, for the easy division of the buns into four quarters symbolizing the four phases of the moon. The Saxons marked their buns with a cross in honor of Easter, their goddess of light. And so the historical bun went down the ages and was popular long before the birth of Christ. It was only natural that the Christians should adopt the ancient custom. In England, which must be regarded as the native land of the hot cross bun, they are supposed to have originated as a food for the strict fast on Good Friday, on which day all church folk are directed to abstain from meat, cheese, eggs, butter and milk.

Today, hot cross buns are eaten primarily because of their deliciousness and nourishment. Their popularity has increased year by year, and the custom of eating them only on Good Friday has long since been abandoned. Housewives have found that hot cross buns fit right in with any meal, no matter what the occasion. Even refreshment menus now include these light, tasty goodies.

Hot Breads

Everybody loves hot breads for breakfast, but nobody likes to get into action an hour earlier on a snappy winter morning. The combination of hot bread and cold morning is possible to the housewife with a little forethought.

The night before, the dry ingredients for waffles, muffins or biscuit may be combined, and the liquid ingredients mixed but kept separate from the dry. In the morning, merely heat griddle, waffle iron or oven, combine wet and dry mixtures and cook them in a jiffy.

Hot French toast may be made on the waffle iron. Dip day-old bread in a mixture of egg and milk and, instead of frying, place it between the grids of the hot waffle iron. It will toast beautifully brown and be stamped with the design of the iron, which only adds to its attractiveness. Waffle toast is better for the delicate stomach than that fried in hot fat.

Another stunt for hot breads is to slice rolls, spread them with butter and heat them in the oven. Filled rolls are delicious for any meal. When the rolls are warmed through, all between the halves a spread of jam, marmalade, apple or peach butter, hot, spiced apple sauce or any other thick sauce or creamed meat or fish.

If cheese is added to split buns before they are put into the oven, it will soften and blend while the bun is heating or toasting. After buttered buns are toasted, they may be split open and the untoasted side spread with a mixture of sugar and cinnamon or grated orange peel. They should then be returned to the oven until the mixture bubbles.

SPAGHETTI, SPANISH STYLE

One-half pound spaghetti, 1 can tomatoes, ½ pound boiled ham, 1 onion, 1 green pepper, salt and pepper. Break spaghetti into inch pieces. Cook in 1 quart boiling, salted water until tender. Add tomatoes, and cook 15 minutes longer. Remove the fat from the ham and try it out. Dice onion and green pepper, and fry slowly in this fat until tender. Chop the ham and add it, with the onion, green pepper and seasoning, to the spaghetti and tomatoes. Put in casserole and bake 15 minutes.

To Whip Cream

Cream to be whipped should be at least thirty-six hours old. Cream does not whip successfully until it has developed a certain acidity, or turned slightly sour. This acidity may be induced, if the cream is too fresh, by adding to it a little cream of tartar dissolved in boiling water and cooled. To whip well, the cream should be thoroughly chilled.

Heavy cream may be whipped with an egg beater. Be careful not to whip it too long and make butter of it. Thin cream may be whipped by the use of a whip churn with a dasher which moves up and down.
